

Scott Barton – Candidate for Municipal Office, Village of Stirling

Scott Barton has proudly called the Village of Stirling home for the past 44 years. He understands the values, traditions, and aspirations that make this community special. With over 40 years of municipal executive experience, Scott is running for office to bring trusted leadership, practical solutions, and a deep commitment to public service to the heart of Stirling's local government.

Scott currently serves as the Chief Administrative Officer (CAO) in Improvement District No. 4 - Waterton, where he has led major infrastructure and community development projects with a focus on transparency, collaboration, and fiscal responsibility. His extensive background in municipal operations gives him a unique ability to navigate complex challenges while delivering results that matter to residents.

Beyond his professional experience, Scott is a proud father, grandfather, neighbor, and active member of the community. Whether volunteering at local events or supporting Stirling's youth and seniors, he believes in leading by example and building strong relationships across generations.

His priorities for Stirling include:

- Supporting local families and businesses through thoughtful development and economic growth.
- Investing in infrastructure and essential services to meet current and future needs.
- Ensuring transparency and accountability in municipal governance.
- Protecting our environment and heritage through sustainable practices.
- Encouraging community engagement and making sure every voice is heard.

Scott believes that strong communities are built on trust, communication, and shared vision. With deep roots in Stirling and a passion for service, he is committed to being a responsive and accessible representative who works tirelessly for the people.

With your support, Scott Barton is ready to bring his experience, leadership, and dedication to municipal office — working together to build a vibrant and resilient Stirling for generations to come.
